
Final Inspection of Refurbishment Project for Pavements Surrounding Deyu Park and Its Parking Facilities

Mayor of Taoyuan City, Cheng Wen-Tsan, inspected the refurbishment project of trails surrounding Deyu Park in Pingzhen District and its parking facilities on the afternoon of November 29th. Mayor Cheng said the pavements surrounding Deyu Park and the fitness facilities in the park are the daily recreational space for residents in Xinfu Village, Beishi Village, and Bei'an Village. The baseball field near the park is used by junior and senior high schools as the daily practice field. The bricks on the pavements in the surrounding areas are damaged, old, and some of the pavements are not connected together. To enhance the recreational space and provide the public a cozier environment as well as connect the surrounding pavements completely, Pingzhen District Office promotes the innovation project on the pavements surrounding Deyu Park and carries out environmental afforestation in the surrounding area as well as the improvement of the parking spaces in the administrative park. The budget for the project is around NT$9.92 million. It has started by the end of this July and is expected to be completed in the early November this year.

Mayor Cheng explained that Deyu Park is an important leisure environment next to Pingzhen Administrative Park, and the project can enhance the overall city landscape. After the completion of the pavement connection, the public can take a walk for a loop around Deyu Park. They can enter the park at any corner of the park to use the facilities inside to stretch their body and mind. Additionally, people can use the pavements to go to the administrative park for business. It enhances the convenience for the public and the comfortability of life for the village residents.

Mayor Cheng highlighted Taoyuan City Government is working hard to promote various infrastructures in Pingzhen, including 1895 Japanese Invasion Memorial Park, Yiming Social Welfare Building, and the recreational square under the bridge of Provincial Highway 66. City Government will implement all the plans for the infrastructures in Pingzhen one after another to make Pingzhen an advanced district.
